ANNUAL PUBLICATION OF
ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF NORTHWEST NAZARENE COLLEGE
NAMPA, IDAHO

FRANCIS CAMPBELL
SUTHERLAND

To you who have demonstrated to us daily the possibility of a consistent Christian walk; to you who have shown us the Christlike spirit in its humility, in its beauty; to you who have inspired in us the desire to be bigger and better men and women because of what we have seen in you; to you who have helped so much in the building of character and of N. N. C. we gratefully dedicate this the 1950 OASIS.

Foreword

We live in a construction-conscious age. Men are seeking to build world peace. Nations want sound social and political structure. Business and labor look for a stable foundation for cooperation. Individuals are following one blueprint or another in molding their lives.

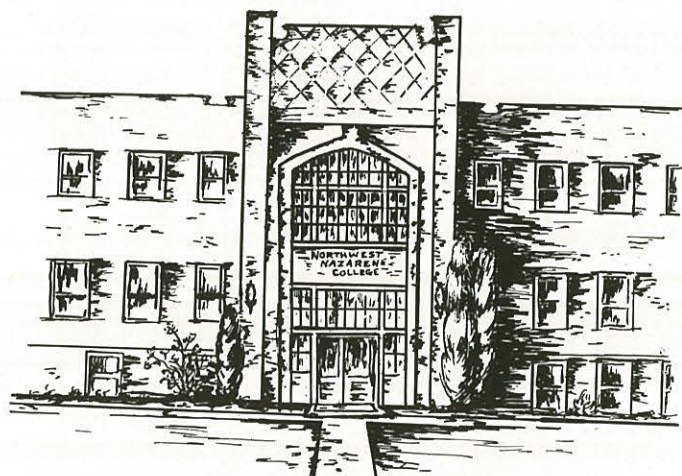

Northwest Nazarene College is the scene of varying phases of creative activity. In one sense, she has watched her campus expand physically during her years from small frame buildings on the sage flats to permanent and practical structures on a growing campus. But in a broader sense, her construction has grown to a world-wide scope with each life that has passed under her influence. It is here that young men and women have molded their personalities according to the Great Architect's plan and moved out into broader fields to exemplify the life of their Chief Cornerstone, Jesus Christ.

Your Oasis is a progress chart, a permanent record of 1949-50 activities—just one small step in the building of a thousand lives. The staff presents it to you with the hope that as you observe it in the days ahead it will help you recall pleasant memories of N.N.C.

Administration

President's Message

The motto of the College, "Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God" and the theme chorus of the year, "Follow, I Will Follow Thee," are characteristic of the spirit of N.N.C. For thirty-six years the leaders of N.N.C. have been following the guidance of the Holy Spirit to progress and development. The students of the school and the people of the educational zone have loyally supported this type of leadership. This is the background and the source of the progress of Northwest Nazarene College during her history. God has answered prayer again and again and young people have received the benefits.

This spirit of missions and evangelism has been prominent throughout the history of the school. Many of the graduates and former students have gone out to make an excellent contribution to the kingdom of God in services as ministers and missionaries. Others have gone out and become strong laymen to support such a program. N.N.C. has endeavored to make her contribution to the church which founded the institution and has financed the various projects of improvement and development. The spirit of missions and evangelism still prevails on the campus and the outlook for active participation in these fields by the members of the present student body are as excellent as at any period of the school's history.

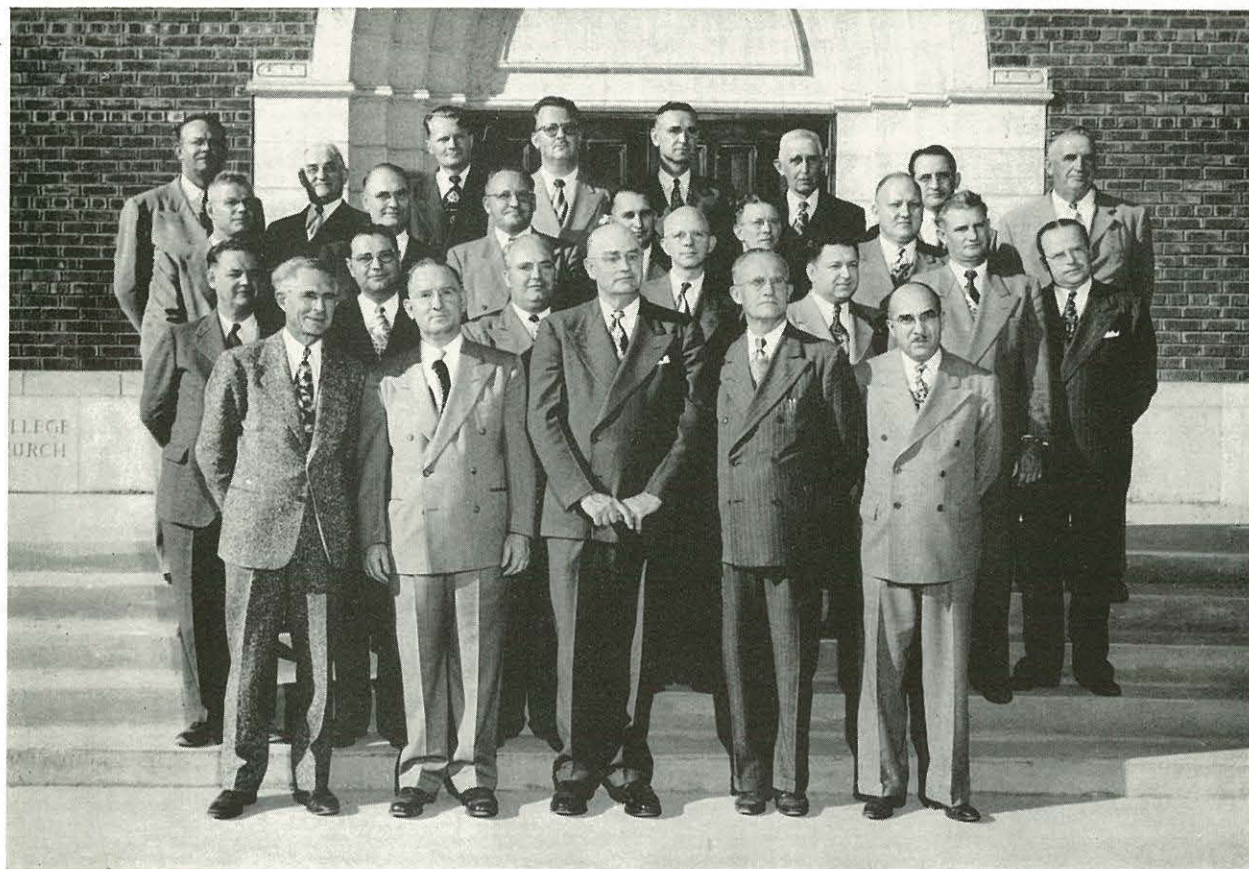

I wish to express my appreciation for the contribution that each member of the administration, faculty, and student body has made to the progress of N.N.C. God is waiting to answer prayer the same as he has in days gone by. He is waiting to perform more miracles to give N.N.C. what is necessary. He is challenging each and every one to move forward with Him. We will answer:

*Follow, I will follow Thee, my Lord,
Follow ev'ry passing day;
My tomorrows are all known to Thee,
Thou wilt lead me all the way.*

President Corlett

Our President, Dr. Lewis T. Corlett, fuses the highest caliber of leadership with kindly accessibility. From his many stirring chapel messages, freighted with valuable counsel, we students have felt the incentive to aspire to those ideals of Christian living he embodies so well. His many years of experience in working with young people have enabled him to become skilled in understanding the problems they encounter in striving to build Christian character and well-rounded personalities. In private interviews he helps the construction to continue, in spite of all our personal difficulties, with his buoyant optimism and faith.

Board of Regents

DR. B. V. SEALS,
Chairman

The Board of Regents has been the standby for constructive direction through another year of progress. This is the group that shapes the present and future policies of N.N.C.

Their efficient and dynamic leadership has made possible the steady building of the institution. With prayerful consideration, friendly attitude, great wisdom and foresight, the Board of Regents gathers twice during the school year. In these meetings, held near the beginning of each semester, there prevails a spirit of unity, faith, and optimism.

Perhaps no other functioning organization has a stronger influence in the creation of strong Christian character among the youth of our denomination.

L. WESLEY JOHNSON
Business Manager

Amidst this tempestuous atomic age, N.N.C. has stood immobile on the foundation of Christ—The Chief Corner Stone. Not only has her foundation remained unshaken, but her supporting pillars, beams and girders have upheld the Standards of Holiness—the structure of N.N.C. To the student they personify intellectual and ethical integrity—Christian culture. They exemplify the Christian Way of Life, and lay the blue prints of character building for students. Yes, they are our Administrative Officers, devout men and women whom we deeply appreciate.

FRED FOWLER

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

Dark, athletic, and good looking Fred Fowler has been the very capable leader of the student body this year. Fred has been an active student while on the campus, entering into a wide variety of extra-curricular activities, and receiving a number of enviable positions. Besides being elected to "Who's Who" in his junior year, Fred has found time to star on the Varsity basketball squad, and is captain of the team this year. He is on the ineligible list of the campus, being married and the coach of his own two-man family. His ready sense of humor, his quick smile, his eagerness for an argument, his puns (he always has one handy), and his efficient way of handling both business sessions and programs alike, all go together to make Fred, our own prexy. A sincere and conscientious Christian, and a true friend is the Associated Student Body President, Fred Fowler.

Student Body Officers

LAMONT LEE

FACULTY ADVISER

LaMont Lee makes good use of his philosophical background in taking the rebuffs that come his way as coach. Both in the latter capacity and as the faculty sponsor in the Student Council sessions, he is guiding the development of Christian sportsmanship and fair play. Indeed, Monty, with his fund of original humor, is a main factor in the success of the diversified extra-curricular activity around Northwest Nazarene College.

Classes

The bricks are fallen down, but we will build with hewn stones: The sycamores are cut down, but we will change them into cedars.

The processional march begins and we, the graduating class of 1950, move down the aisle to take our places and receive the degrees we have long coveted. The orchestra music fades into the background and memories of the past four years crowd in upon us. The fall of 1946 a new class of green frosh crowded into the chapel for entrance exams. The sophomores were in their heyday initiating that class—one of the largest to enter N.N.C. Remember the tin cans and talcum powder?

And when we were sophomores, still smarting under the sting of our initiation, how we humiliated the freshmen!

Hotel Boise was the setting for the Junior-Senior banquet of 1949. We remember that well—the time spent in deciding on the decorations, programs, speaker—also the dues. Nothing could flatten the pocketbook quite so efficiently.

Finally, we became seniors. We recall the fellowship and fun of the senior sneak at Shore Lodge on the Payette Lakes. This year we were feted by the juniors at the annual banquet. Remember the dates, the flowers, and the toasts?

The strains of the music force themselves into our consciousness and as we take our places, we wonder what the future holds for us. We have built a strong foundation here at N.N.C. We are entering society with a definite mission, that of replacing the fallen bricks with hewn stones, the uprooted sycamores with strong cedars. With God's guidance and help, we are consecrated to the purpose of building the Kingdom of God.

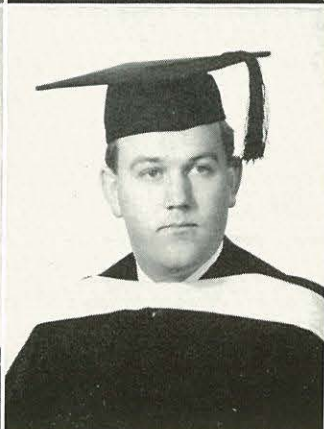

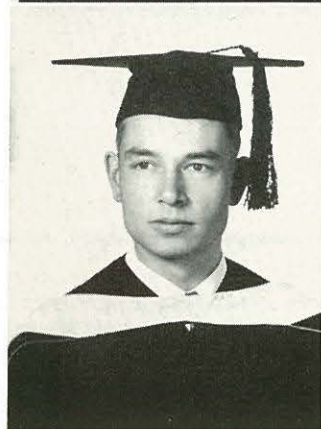

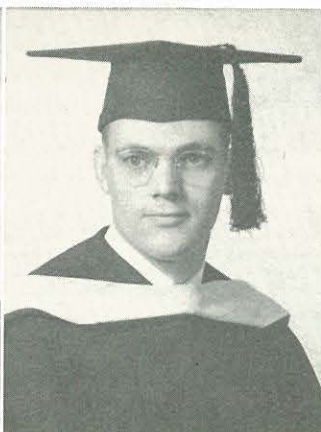

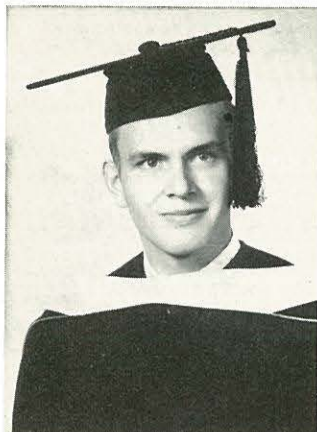

Seniors

JIM WOLSTENHOLM

'Way down low—that's where Jim sings—this prexy of the senior class. In fact, he sang in about everything—the quartet, A Cappella, and the chapel choir. This eligible bachelor declares that none can compare with the California weather. After graduation he plans to enter the ministry.

Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house . . . acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.

Juniors at last, we have shaken off the spirit of frivolity that we had as freshmen and sophomores, and have buckled down to the more serious responsibilities of upperclassmen.

Reminiscently we watched the antics of the freshmen and sophomores during initiation—recalling similar experiences of our own not so very long ago.

We are proud of what our members have contributed this year. Capable leaders have been furnished to the various activities; from our ranks have come the editors of the Oasis and Crusader, the presidents of the AWS and Men's Club, society presidents, and other hard-working office-holders—each fitting his brick into the structure of college life. Working together, our class has endeavored to build up a spiritual house acceptable to God.

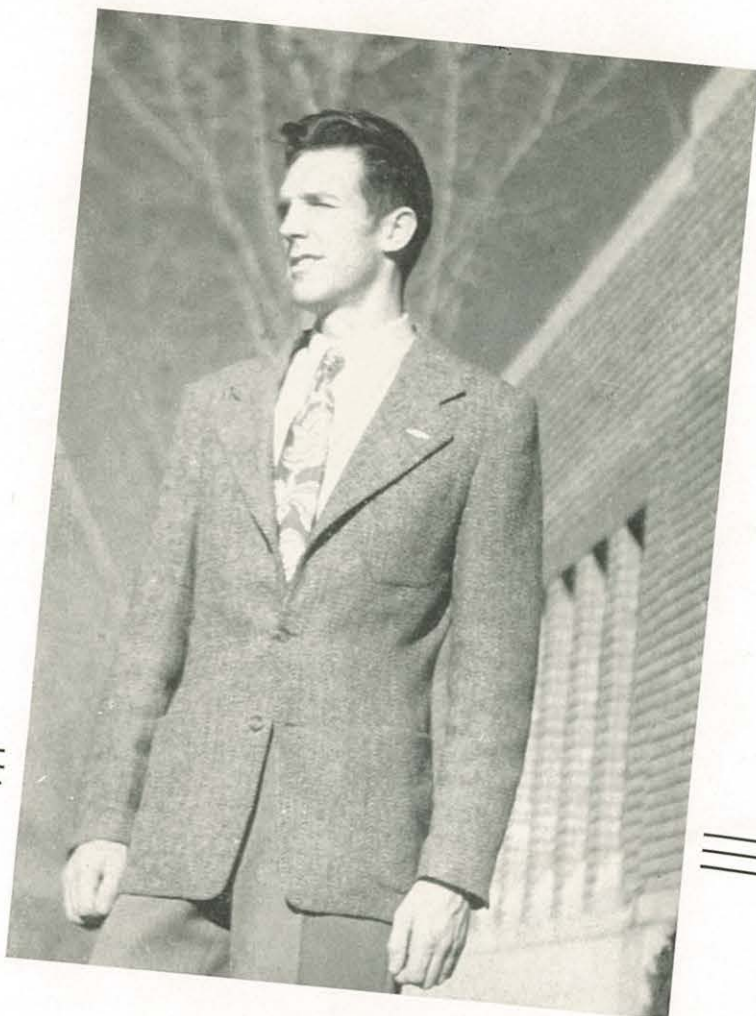

The year has passed quickly. . . . Where are the seniors? Looks as if they've sneaked off. It's fun for us too, at the Welcome-back Party—Mmmmm—chili. . . . Exam time—the year's half gone. . . . We're hard at work on the big event of the year. Committees, plans, junior dues. . . . Who's your date to the Junior-Senior Banquet? . . . Investiture service, baccalaureate, senior chapel—Oh, what a job keeping those seniors' robes pressed. . . . Goodbye to the seniors. We'll be in their place next year. May we be useful workers in the Master Builder's crew!

PAUL MITCHELL

Paul Mitchell, junior class president, is a versatile and efficient leader. He was prexy of the A.D.P.'s in his sophomore year, and their treasurer this year. He was secretary-treasurer of the speech club, and in A Cappella. A potential minister, his sterling character witnesses of his suitability to this work.

Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it.

The sophomores, filled with new-found assurance after having survived one year of vigorous life at N.N.C., returned with high anticipation for the year's activities. After three months away from school and friends, we were more aware of the matchless Christian atmosphere and more thankful for Christian friends and faculty.

Freshman Initiation brought memories of last year's sticky hair and pillows. The flag hunt and the tug o'war were not forgotten either. Both the Freshman and Sophomore classes will long remember the Initiation Party on Saturday night which climaxed the week's activities. The hatchet was buried and the classes united in a hilarious mock wedding which symbolized the co-operation and friendliness which has existed between the two classes throughout the year.

The Sophomore Class Party and Christmas activities high lighted the first semester. In the spring, the annual Freshman-Sophomore picnic furnished the members of both classes with a fun-packed afternoon and evening.

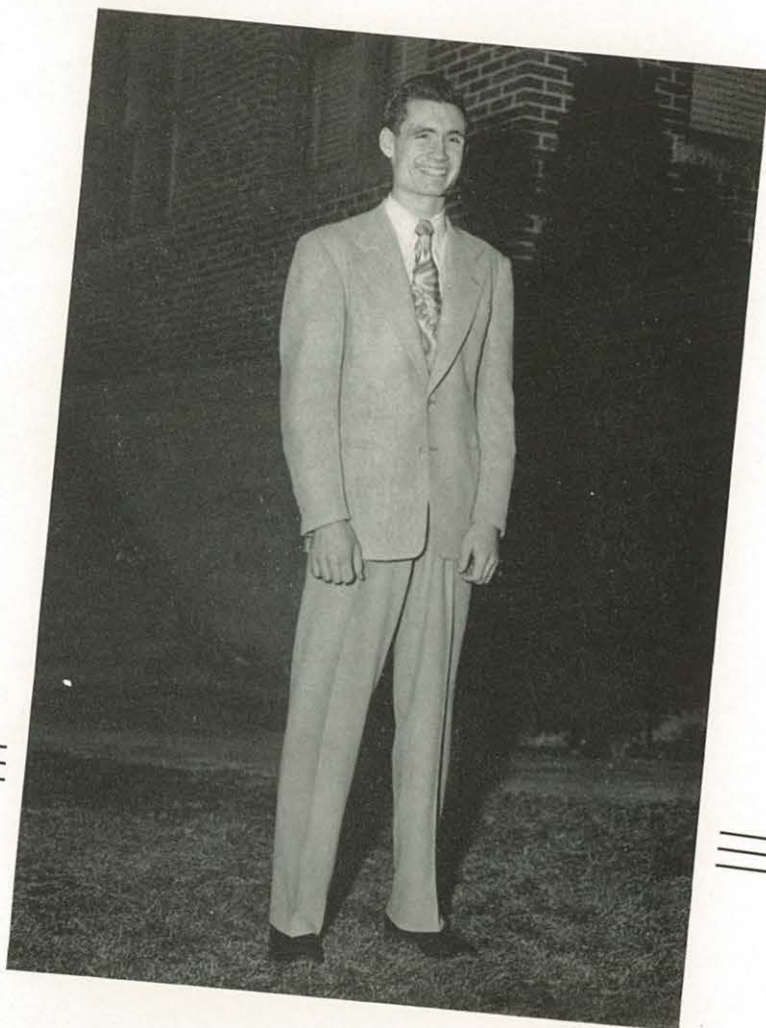

Primarily, we have come to N.N.C. to develop spiritually. We wish to become skilled in the art of building characters and personalities. But unless God can use us and work through us, we "labor in vain that build." That is why we, as individuals and as a class, have consecrated our lives so that the Lord may "build the house."

CHESTER GALLOWAY

All about the campus with a buzz of activity—yes, one often sees that smile of Chester Galloway's as he performs various duties around N.N.C. This year he's head of his class—also finds time for athletics and positions of responsibility in various groups. "Chet . . . Chet . . . he's our man; if he can't do it nobody can!"

But let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon. For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

With eager anticipation we arrived at N.N. C.—a little bewildered, perhaps, but happy to be college freshmen. The first days were jammed full of new experiences—getting acquainted with the dean, the other students, and the campus. The entrance tests left us with tired minds and frazzled nerves, but headaches were forgotten that night at the Get-Acquainted Party. Names and more names—how could we ever remember who was who?

We'll never forget the flurry and bewilderment of registration. A few days of meeting our teachers and getting acquainted with our textbooks, and initiation took our minds from our classes again. Remember the starched hair, the toothbrushes and the shoeshine kits? But we had our revenge at the Flag Hunt when we found our flag first. Funny—the sophomores couldn't seem to locate theirs! Peace came with the freshman-sophomore party.

We have learned, however, that college is not all fun and frivolity. Through the past months we have worked hard to build a solid foundation for our future college life. Dr. Corlett's chapel talks, the messages of our pastor and revival speakers, prayer before classes, the exemplary lives of our professors, and the spontaneous testimonies of our fellow students have inspired us to lay our foundation in Jesus Christ, "for other foundation can no man lay."

Tall, dark Harry, well-known and well-liked prexy of the College High School, is an active student. Besides finding time for athletics, Harry, as leader of the high school student body, has found time to direct the monitoring system. He's a fast man on the football field, and has keen ability to carry that zeal into student body activities. Hats off to Harry, a capable leader and a "regular guy!"

Among the student council's many activities, the members have found time to revise the student body constitution, and to supervise a merit-demerit system among the students. Their activities have been of a high order, and they have gained the respect of the other students both by their ability and sincerity.

PAUL KUNKEL - - - - - Editor
 MARIAN WASHBURN - - - Literary Adviser

"Paul Kunkel has an announcement." Many were the similar chapel introductions to the theme that all students and faculty members must have their pictures taken before . . . the ominous deadline. . . . Camera shutters clicked and the student photographers eagerly developed reels and reels of film in hopes of securing exceptional pictures for this year's annual. . . . Long sessions called to mount the endless mountain of portraits and campus activity shots meant feverish labor.

Gene Hovee, the literary editor with the makings of a teacher, liberally handed out assignments. The hunt for ideas and new ways for describing familiar events found good game in the stalking grounds of previous achievements. . . . Editing copy hastily flung together, curbing careless expression and balancing our comparative inexperience with the rationality of maturity, Miss Washburn lent her approval to final drafts.

The headaches of beautifying the lay-out with artistic fancies plagued our staff artists. But the various staffs have been sedentary compared to our editor who has traveled much in the realms inhabited by dragons in the shape of deadlines and voluntary insomnia.

PETER BURKHART - - Business Manager

Jim Galloway, officially the associate editor, was in reality the editor's right hand man, capably doing whatever was needed no matter what the required task might be.

The business side, with Peter Burkhart as manager, had for its task the matter of financing the "operation Oasis." Through the obtainment of advertisements and through constant alertness in the wide open arena of cutting expenses feasibly, Pete, with the backing of everybody who liked to see a well-balanced result in the books, rendered yeoman service.

The harmony that comes from unity of purpose characterized the Oasis staff. Every department with the vision of an annual to excel those published before pooled both time and midnight energy in the common fund. Correspondence; "doodling" and finally producing a "dummy"; proof-reading; agitating typewriter keys; blinding subjects with fusillades of flash bulbs; the distant lure of the reward ahead, Oasis pins, compensating for past worries; even studying for the novelty of such a pastime, while watching the dawn steal over the horizon; such were some of the interests that pre-occupied the staff.

A bold sign reading "Crusader" protrudes from the low eaves of the Speech Hall on the far edge of the campus. From within, a steady hum of voices—urgent, insistent and in mock-desperation, reaches the visitor's ear. And then, you remember that this is Wednesday and the staff is busy with the task of setting up the dummy for Friday's paper.

Assignments are given to reporters on Friday of every other week—deadline Monday 5:00 p.m.! Then comes the re-reading and re-writing. The proof readers avidly scan the long, long strips of printed paper, their sharp eyes gleaming the misprints. The small office is crowded with restless reporters, section editors, typists and—of course, the editor, Tom Kelly.

Extra efforts and the late, after-school hours all go into the making of each column of the paper. Pinched between the reporters' and printers' deadlines, Tom has come through with an unimpaired sense of humor. Sometime between Monday and going to press, Miss Lawrence, as faculty adviser, lends a helping hand by way of suggestion, correction, and encouragement.

Beginning with a new format, this year's Crusader has improved in many ways. The sports section was changed to the third page, with our sports editor, Lilburn Wesche wielding a remarkable up-to-the-point pen. The feature page includes dorm chats and pungent bits of news. But not everything is limited to the boundaries of a secluded and sheltered N.N.C. The current events column, another addition, keeps the students abreast of the times.

The circulation squad, which handles the largest circulation the Crusader has ever had, always is in a whirl. This year, the parents of students who are mentioned in the paper receive a free copy of the Crusader.

Handling advertisement subscriptions becomes no small task when one is aware of the bills to be met from this source. Dean Galloway was business manager during first semester. Delmer Cook served in this capacity the second semester.

But the Crusader would not have existed, had it not been for the "120 per cent" co-operation of the members of all the staffs who have stood shoulder to shoulder, through storm and sunshine, ink and paper.

Recitalists

The School of Music, headed by Alline Swann, and a supporting galaxy of instructional talent, adds a celestial touch to campus life. The first senior recital starred Eunice Lintz, contralto, voice student of Charles Ross, in a very able rendition of difficult compositions. Pat Bolerjack as accompanist and piano soloist was excellent. Irene Honstead Bevington, university graduate, organist in Nampa's Grace Episcopal Church, and a student of Alline Swann, in her graduate recital performed on the piano keys with true artistry. Another student of Alline Swann, Lucille Wilson, in her graduate piano recital demonstrated the genuine skill and technique mastered only through assiduous training. The uniform quality exhibited by these musicians conferred honor both to themselves and their teachers.

Debates

Hours of diligent note-taking and speech revision were rewarded as N. N. C.'s debate teams stepped up to present their cases. Two questions were resolved this year: "The Marshall Plan for the Orient," and "Nationalization of Basic Industries except Agriculture."

The debaters proved their competence at the first tourney of the year when the men's team took top place at Walla Walla in November. During the same month, two of the men's teams traveled to Stanford University to participate in a week-long contest.

The spring debate activities were high lighted by the annual Linfield tournament. Following their return from this trip, our debate artists participated in the Idaho Tournament at the College of Idaho. Representing N. N. C. wherever they go, the debaters and their coach, Prof. Wilson, are noted for their fine Christian character and amiable personalities.

Occasionally, high spirits of a whole dorm are combined in parties, varying from pajama contests to singspirations. Not every dorm gathering is hilarious, however, sometimes they are serious in nature.

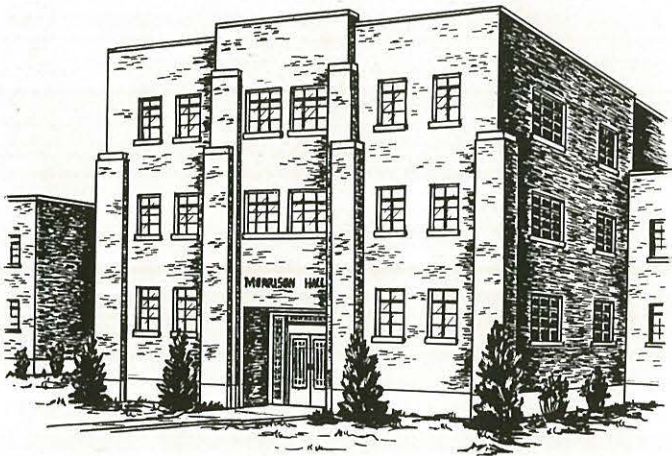

All the dorms contribute to the hub-bub of voices, the merry clatter of dinnerware, interspersed with "Happy Birthday to you" inevitably concluded with an energetic "Stand up" and hand clapping which permeate the atmosphere of Morrison Dining Hall. Seating arrangements are positive aids in making new friends and acquaintances. Friday nights are special occasions when everyone dons his Sunday best and company manners, while distinctive days are high lighted by candlelight and music. Family devotions create a bond of fellowship among the students and set the spirit for the dorm prayer meetings held later in the evening.

Overseeing these various aspects of dorm life are the longsuffering deans, who, although forced to take disciplinary measures, still maintain the confidence and good will of their charges. The deans give friendly counsel and help to build sound character in young lives.

The Big-Little Sister Tea sounded the keynote for the year's activities. Striving to acquaint the new girl with college life and give her the feeling that she "belongs," the Big Sisters introduced their charges to the friendliness and spiritual social life of N.N.C. Perk, capable Nicki Taylor and her efficient council planned many other events throughout the year. The A. W. S. sponsored the Thanksgiving Banquet "hand in hand" with the Men's Club, as well as the reception which followed the coronation of the Tip-off queen. The Crazy Hat Party, Heart-Sister Week, the Valentine Party, and the Commencement Tea — who will soon forget any of these memories?

New lids for the same old pans!

This exclusive organization accepts for membership masculine students only. The main feature of the year was the Stag Party. The fall crop of whiskers, unharvested for at least a week before the great occasion, was prodigious. Bright sweaters, rippling muscle flexing, and Western music together with barrels of cider, made this event a bangup good time.

In conjunction with the Associated Women Students the Men's Club assisted in the arrangements for the formal Thanksgiving dinner and also for the colorful pageantry of the Tip-off celebration.

A delicious breakfast enjoyed together, a special speaker and the senior awards are memories overlying a deeper purpose which is built into the bulwark of our characters.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB
 SCRIBLERUS CLUB
 SONS OF SAMSON

Philosophy Club

"Thinking Clearly About Holiness" was the theme chosen by the Philosophy Club for thought and discussion. This theme was selected so that a practical explanation for holiness could be given students. Congenial R. T. Bolerjack has served as prexy of the club this year and a varied program has been presented by Paul Beals, program chairman. Students presented papers upon "Holiness and the Scripture" and "Holiness and the Social Order." Rev. Riley spoke to the club members about "Holiness and Human Experience." Prof. Kauffman, club sponsor, lectured on "Holiness and Man's Nature." A talk entitled "Holiness and Human Problems" was delivered by Dr. Corlett. Dr. J. Glenn Gould gave his "Definition of Holiness." Dean Bertha Munro, of Eastern Nazarene College, was the guest speaker at the annual banquet which the club sponsored with the Scriblerus and Timothy Clubs.

Scriblerus Club

The Scriblerus Club of N.N.C., named for the famous eighteenth century English club which boasted Pope and Swift as charter members, endeavors to excite a greater literary interest on our campus. Programs during the year have included book reviews, movies of literary settings in England, a report on Einstein's autobiography, and a study of Robert Frost. Of especial interest was a reading given by Professor Chatterton of the College of Idaho, who presented excerpts from Charles Dickens. Club members performed before a larger group when they presented the life and works of John Milton as an N.Y.P.S. program at College Church. The joint spring banquet with the Philosophy Club and Timothy Club was the high light of this year's program, with Dean Munro of Eastern Nazarene College as guest speaker.

Sons of Samson

Instructions in tumbling, weight-lifting, wrestling, and boxing are a part of the active program carried on by the Sons of Samson. This organization is open to the men of the student body for their physical development through systematic exercises. New equipment is being acquired steadily to supply this rapidly growing group. Throughout the year workouts were regularly scheduled on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, and movies were a part of the instructional activities, showing professional methods. A tumbling team led by Lauren Bozarth was presented as half-time entertainment at one of this season's basketball games.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Timothy Club

The Timothy Club is the representative of the college theology department in extracurricular activities. One of the more active clubs on the campus, it had, as one of its special interests, the presentation of various prominent speakers who were visitors to our campus. Organized primarily for the benefit of ministerial students it attempts to provide those students with valuable material to assist them in their future work as ministers of the church. With a vitally interested faculty sponsor, and enthusiastic leadership, the Timothy Club has helped many of the students to obtain a more clear understanding of the many facets of Christian living.

The closing of the school year was climaxed with a banquet, at which Dean Bertha Munro of Eastern Nazarene College gave the address.

Home Economics Club

Personality improvement, good grooming, better homemaking, community life—these are among the varied topics discussed at the meetings of the Home Economics Club. Wide-awake Edith Anderson, student assistant of the Home Economics department, has presided over the club during one of its busiest years. In order to complete their annual project, that of purchasing china for the department, the girls held several candy sales and sold centerpieces at the joint exhibit with the Art Club. At the end of the year the senior banquet was given for the graduating Home Ec majors and the future co-eds of College High were invited to the Hi-School Tea to acquaint them with the facilities of N. N. C.'s Home Ec department.

Science Club

The recently organized Marshall Science Society, a club devoted to creating an outlet for the scientifically-minded, is the first of its kind on the campus. It is divided into two departments so that it may better meet the students' needs which are not met specifically in the regular school curriculum.

Each department has as its goal a definite project; that of the physical science and mathematics department being the building of a scale model of a molecule and mathematics models; that of the biology department, mounting skeletons and constructing charts.

Meetings are supplemented with scientific material presented in slides by Dr. Aller, and moving pictures concerning current aspects of biology and science. Of campus-wide interest was the cancer film presented in chapel by the Science Club.

Mu Upsilon Sigma

ment under the auspices of the Mu Upsilon Sigma. Composed chiefly of music majors, and led by Carol Sharp, one of its main objectives has been to place new campus talents in the lime-light.

Among the guest artists have been Theodore Ulman from Juliard School of Music, and Paul Matthen, also of New York. The cultural values obtained from their splendid performances have been admirably reflected in the students' lives. Wednesday afternoon recitals initiate many student artists into their first stage experience and encourage them to work diligently at making the most of their talents. They also help other students to gain a greater appreciation for good music.

art exhibits, sales, field trips, tours of the Boise Art Gallery, and many other activities were open not only to the club members, but also to any student interested in art. The outstanding event of the year for Beta Chi Alpha was the Christmas exhibit and sale, which in addition to displaying oils, pastels, chalk work and lettering, featured beautifully arranged holly corsages for sale to the public. The camera fans who organized with Beta Chi Alpha for the first time this year completed the installation of their dark room facilities in the basement of the Art Building. This active organization has not only made an important and colorful contribution to the activity program at N. SPENCERIAN SPEECH CLUB
 BUSINESS CLUB
 INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Spencerian Speech Club

Development of the students' speaking ability is the primary objective of the Speech Club. It supervises the contests in Bible readings, humorous readings, and in both intramural and intercollegiate debate. Special speakers are scheduled at different times during the school year to present interesting and helpful material to the members of the club.

The club aims toward the satisfaction of the ever-present need for more capable and confident young people who will go out into all walks of life enabled to speak effectively for themselves and for Christ. In so doing, this club affords opportunity of building for future life and the Kingdom of God.

In both chapel programs and regular club meetings, readings are often given by club members.

Business Club

The Business Club is a professional organization which aims to promote sound business, good ethics, and an interest in local and world-wide economic welfare through Christian business education. One of the more notable activities of the club was the elaborate office equipment display which proved to be a strong attraction for both townspeople and students. Nearly all leading office furnishers of Boise and Nampa were represented by the newer styles of office furniture and business equipment.

Interest in the Business Club has been renewed through increased business facilities and activities. Under the leadership of Mrs. Voget, sponsor; Glenn Hopkins, president; and Betty Thrush, program chairman, the organization has enjoyed well planned meetings and programs. N.N.C. can expect even greater things from the Business Club in the future in the way of extracurricular activity.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club, led by president Don Beecher, has been active in working toward its goal—to focus student attention on world affairs and to build a better understanding of foreign policy. Varied programs at the monthly meetings have given the members pertinent information on international affairs.

Visits to the College of Idaho's regular meetings, a potluck dinner at Boise Junior College, and the regional IRC conference held at Moscow, Idaho, added spice and variety to the year's activities. Delegates to the conference were Gertrude Collins, Ralph Miller, Pete Burkhart, Olive Lawrence, and Arlene Swardstrom, who reported on an interesting weekend listening to speakers and comparing notes with members of neighboring clubs.

Christian Workers' Band

Realizing that "practice makes perfect," the Christian Workers' Band makes use of the talent of the members of the student body who are desirous of taking an active part in Christian work. Each Saturday night the Band meets in their "workshop" before sending out teams the following day. Each Sunday gospel team, including teachers, singers, and ministers, leaves the campus to go to the different outpoints. These groups are essential for the reaching of many communities where the church is too small to support a full-time pastor or where a work is just beginning. Of all the groups of the campus, this organization is perhaps one of the most useful in the building and promotion of Christian talent for use in the fields which are "white unto harvest."

Revival

An eminent evangelist and a humble, Godly man, Dr. J. Glenn Gould proved himself a blessing to the College Church congregation as he brought inspired gospel messages during the spring revival. One of the ablest preachers in the American pulpit today, he has been a successful pastor for 30 years, the last few years of which he has pastored the College Church at Eastern Nazarene College. Now serving as head of the Theology Department, he came to N.N.C. with a full knowledge of the spiritual problems of youth and he ministered with these needs in mind. The spring revival will be remembered long as not just another meeting, but a truly spirit-filled revival.

General Missionary Society

Capturing student zeal for missions and directing it into useful channels has long been the tradition of the General Missionary Society. To accomplish this end the society officers have brought to the regular Thursday Chapel speakers representing almost every field—Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Manley from India; Dr. Henry C. Wesche, China; Esther Crane, Nicaragua; and Fairy Chism from Africa. Responding to the challenge of the annual project—$1250 for radio evangelism in Puerto Rico and $750 to Dr. Samuel Hynd who is studying tropical diseases in London—the student body pledged $2460 in twelve minutes. The students realize that by making it possible for those abroad to be reached with the Gospel, they build both for the future and for eternity.

MANGUM LECTURES

In 1946, in honor of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Mangum established a series of lectures to be delivered each year by an outstanding missionary. This year's lectures were given by Dr. Lauren Seaman, a medical missionary to Africa.

DR. LAUREN SEAMAN

Dr. Seaman, a 1931 graduate of N.N.C., has spent the last five years in Africa as a medical missionary at the Rawleigh Fitkin Memorial Hospital. His sincere messages have left a deep impression on the campus.

MUSIC ARTISTS

The cultural side of N. N. C. has been greatly enriched by the appearance of several accomplished artists. Through the medium of the Joint Artists Series, vocalist Paul Matthen and pianist Theodore Ulman have visited our campus. Mad scramble under the basket as Crusaders battle Loggers and Coyotes.

Playing one of the toughest schedules in history, Monty Lee's Crusaders wound up with a respectable 12-13 won-loss record, defeating every team they played at least once, with two exceptions. Eleven of their losses were by margins of less than nine points.

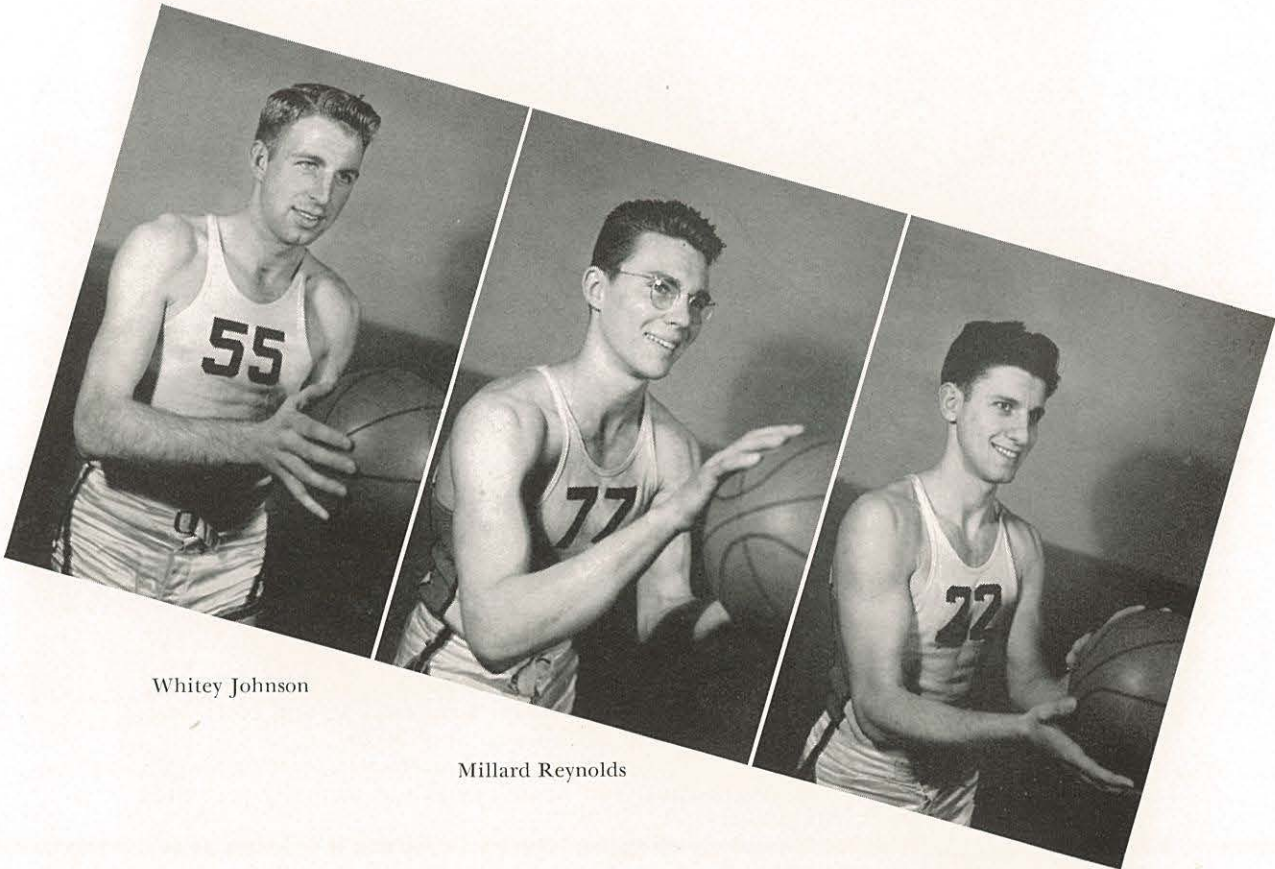

Fred Fowler and Jack Jamison were the only seniors on the squad and, although their absence will be felt, the Crusaders should be much improved next year with nine members of the varsity returning.

John Cramer led the team during the first half of the season and Millard Reynolds and Merle Iles paced the squad throughout the latter part of the year.

What winning graces! what majestic mien!
She moves a goddess, and she looks a queen.
—Homer.

Her majesty, Queen Carol, ruled supreme at the traditional tip-off basketball game which was played January 6 between Seattle-Pacific College and Northwest Nazarene College. N.N.C. won over S.P.C. with a score of 59-48.

Queen Carol, crowned by Doug Powers, master of ceremonies, wore a simple, white crepe gown. A bouquet of American Beauty roses was formally presented to her, signifying her royal status.

This was the fourth annual tip-off game. Queen Carol was a princess at two of these games. By being chosen queen, Carol Sharp has well proved she has an all around developed personality.

J. V. Basketball

Tall, lean, with cool, piercing blue eyes, Lilburn is well known on the campus not only as coach of the Junior Varsity, but also as sports writer for the Crusader during the past two years. An avid supporter of the L.S.P. society, Lilburn's main interest is in sports of all kinds, especially basketball. Under his coaching, the J. V.'s piled up an admirable series of scores this year.

Sports

Minor sports, although forced to take a back seat in spectator interest, were a vital part of N. N. C.'s athletic program during the past year. Participation reached a new high in the lesser sports as each society placed near the top in at least one of the minor sports activities. For the girls, golf, ping-pong, tennis and shuffleboard were offered while the boys fought it out for top honors in golf, ping-pong, horse-shoe and tennis.

C.H.S. Coaches

C.H.S. has built a worthy reputation in sports this year. Beginning in the fall, their six-man football team proved its ability to excell, and on into winter they made trips to Wilder, McCall, and Cascade. The basketball team, excellent in teamwork and sportsmanship, gave stiff competition to neighboring cagers. And springtime brought baseball to eager high school fans.

Away from the pressing duties of the day, staff and students gather in the chapel for a few minutes of worship.

Rev. Riley, college pastor.

The twinkling eyes, broad smile, and sense of humor betrayed by his Irish name are facets in the personality of our versatile college pastor. Whether exhorting from the pulpit or lecturing in the classroom, Rev. Riley presents his message with magnetic fervor and genuine sincerity. This year has been an especially happy one for him, since he can now watch his Sunday congregation gather in the beautiful new College Church.

Colleg

Dr. Vanderpool gives "a charge to keep . . ."

Rev. Riley accepts the challenge.

Dedication of College Church was a long-awaited ceremony when the goal of a sacrificing and praying people was realized. General Superintendent D. I. Vanderpool brought the dedicatory address on Sunday afternoon, climaxing a week of revival services conducted by him.

Busy, cheerful workers donated labor in the evenings so that the building progress of the church was phenomenal.

The spring revivalist was Dr. J. Glenn Gould, pastor of Eastern Nazarene College Church, who shared his wealth of religious experience with us.

And to our college pastor, Rev. Riley, "Thank you," for being such an able administrator, counselor, pastor, and friend.

"Truly the Lord hath done great things, whereof we are glad!"

Sunday worshippers leave the sanctuary—a place of spiritual inspiration and encouragement.

Church

Rev. Riley, father of the college pastor... "May the Lord bless thee and keep thee."

Church

"O worship the King, all glorious above. . . ."

The program of College Church is of a varied and active nature, because, to a great extent, the congregation is composed of young people. To meet the needs of college students, there are the Sunday School, the regular Sunday worship and evangelistic services, the N. Y. P. S. and the mid-week services.

Each Sunday morning, inspiring messages and anthems sung by the Chapel Choir are broadcast over KFXD, ministering to the audience over the air.

Who does not recall vividly this twice-yearly event? Calendar

- Sept. 17. Dear Diary, I've only been here for three hours, but it's the same old place. It's really good to be back to the dear old campus again. There surely are a lot of new faces. But I see that a lot of the old gang struggled back to another year's grind.
- Sept. 19. Do I ever feel beat up! Even after two years I'm still not used to those registration lines. Had a chance to relax and laugh tonight when the quartets entertained. Bob Anderson's imitation of Mr. Johnson was a scream.
- Sept. 21. I had my first doubts today about the advisability of my coming back to school this year when I went to my German class. Don't know who was more scared—we or Miss MacPherson, the new German teacher. Rev. Riley is holding our opening convention. He's a wonderful college pastor. Dr. Corlett is giving our chapel talks.
- Sept. 30. I suffered from a severe case of muscle fatigue tonight after shaking hands so many times at Student-Faculty reception. My first chance to get a real good look at all the new students and faculty members. I've got my eyes on a couple of good-looking guys!
- Oct. 7. Rah for the A.D.P.'s! I just heard we won first for closed night society programs this evening.
- Oct. 9. Our new church is marvelous! It was really a thrill to march over there from the chapel, and then to hear the inspiring message from Dr. Vanderpool. I just love revival time at N.N.C. I'm praying for a clean sweep in all the dorms.
- Oct. 21. The first bench list of the year came out today. I sure get a bang out of the looks of despair or triumph which pass along from face to face as the bench list is read.
- Nov. 4. Eunice Lintz really outdid herself tonight in her senior recital. I never would have dreamed she was scared if I hadn't seen her spitting out fingernails between numbers!
- Nov. 7. How could I have forgotten that I had a mid-semester exam in German today! I should have heeded that warning I felt after the first day in class!
- Nov. 18. How's come our faculty is so talented and I can't do anything! Mrs. Swann's and Mrs. Davidson's concert was a wonderful ending for the fine arts program.
- Nov. 24. Why is it that I can't find the Alka-Seltzer when I need it most? No, it wasn't the S.L.A.-L.S.P. play that gave me indigestion. I just ate too much for dinner. But then Thanksgiving only comes once a year.
- Nov. 25. The basketball jaboree was really exciting, but I can hardly move now—I played so hard. Another Rah for the A.D.P.'s. We're well on the way to victory this year—first again. Patience, the rest of you poor societies! Your break is coming! There are some mighty sad sals around here today. The Male Chorus left on tour. I hear that a M.C.W. society has been organized—Male Chorus Widows!
- Dec. 2. I was so enthralled by the Oly-A.D.P. play tonight that I almost forgot my ten lines at the last of the third act! The "Life of Riley" was really the life!
- Dec. 5. We're off to a flying start in basketball. We scored a victory over B.J.C. tonight at Central. I hope it's a good indication of how the season will progress!
- Dec. 11. Even after three years I'm left breathless by Handel's great "Messiah." College Church was packed out and people were standing. Was I ever embarrassed! How could I tell that was a rest sign and not a note?
- Dec. 14. And I had to have a 3:05 class on the day vacation begins.
- Dec. 29. I had a wonderful vacation but it's good to be back. Santa was sure good, and so was Mom's cooking!
- Jan. 6. The coronation of Queen Carol was beautiful. Tip-off is always so exciting. I wonder how it feels to be queen for a day? But at least I got to go to the banquet after the game.
- Jan. 13. And who said college was fun? I still haven't found my Alka-Seltzer, and I sure needed it when I finished my term paper at five minutes 'til 5.
- Jan. 20. Dear Diary—You know how I love music, and the orchestra concert was wonderful tonight.
- Jan. 25. After three sleepless nights I am finally finished with finals. What a relief—still no Alka-Seltzer!
- Feb. 1. Classes again—from now on I'm a bird lover. I must get my science credits some way!
- Feb. 8. Dr. Seaman told us today all about the maggots in Africa. How's come I felt bugs crawling all over my chapel seat! Mangum Missionary lectures are always such an inspiration.
- Mar. 5. Revival time again. I'm going to like Dr. Gould from E.N.C. There is a wonderful revival spirit on the campus.
- Mar. 27. And we just had semester exams a few weeks ago—How can the faculty do this to us! Guess it's because it's mid-semester exam time already.
- Mar. 31. Happy day—choir trip for ten days and a wonderful rest from classes. Sure is fun to travel and sing in new places every day.
- April 9. Easter again. But I don't have to worry about an Easter outfit—my choir robe is so becoming!
- April 11. How did I know that the library basement was so dirty when I volunteered for the job! Campus Day is over again, but it was fun.
- April 21. My first Junior-Senior Banquet! I had to dig for the $7 dues, but it was worth it!
- April 28. Play time again, and the A.D.P.-L.S.P. play cast was superb.
- May 1. Guess I'll never be a senior. I don't think I could make it through those comprehensives. I hear Jim Wolstenholm has just been transported to the institution across town. He couldn't take it.
- May 2. All-school picnics are so much fun! Just because I almost drowned trying to catch minnows doesn't mean anything!
- May 5. The Oly's and S.L.A.'s really put on a good play tonight, too, but I guess I'm prejudiced. How's come?
- May 8. The seniors looked wonderful tonight (wonderful is my favorite word) in their caps and gowns. I wonder if I'll ever be in a Senior Investiture?
- May 12. Term work due again. Need I say more?
- May 22. For the last time this year I have to take exams. I am just now realizing what a dummkopf I am!
- May 28. Well, diary, the year's almost over and I'm almost sorry. Baccalaureate this morning was wonderful. (There's that word again!)
- May 31. Commencement at last. What a year—What a student body—What a school!

elected 1948.

The six upper-classmen elected during the first semester by the Associated Students of 1949-50 to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities were chosen on a basis of scholarship, character, and leadership. These exceptional students, along with those chosen from the rest of America's undergraduate life of today, are the future leaders of our nation. They possess the conscientiousness, ambition, and broad scope of interest necessary for their future usefulness to society. They represent the salient abilities and qualities of intelligence and personality necessary to good leadership. Membership in Who's Who is a distinct honor—a token of success. Students elected to this national organization represent prominence in campus affairs, as well as a high level of scholarship. Truly, N.N.C. is proud of this outstanding group which represents the goals upon which she was founded: Character, Culture, Christ.

In Memoriam

1950

Glenn W. Siefarth was born December 8, 1891, in Fall City, Oregon. Converted early in life and called to the ministry, he enrolled in Pasadena College in 1912. While yet in college he married, began his first pastorate, and was ordained to the ministry in 1916, the year before his graduation. Characteristically, in his first charge he built a church and parsonage. He was a builder in the true sense of the word. For more than thirty years in the pastorate, evangelism, and as Finance Executive of three of our colleges, Eastern Nazarene College, Pasadena College, and Northwest Nazarene Collège, he gave his nearly boundless energies in building the kingdom without and within. He was a preacher of extraordinary force and effectiveness. He was a business executive of unusual ability. He was a man of vision and execution in the planning and erection of church and college buildings. With all of that his heart burned with a passionate loyalty to Christ and souls. Mr. "Great-heart" literally gave his life in laboring with the Master to build the Kingdom.

*All are architects of Fate,
Working in these walls of Time;
Some with massive deeds and great,
Some with ornaments of rhyme.*

College Church of the Nazarene

"Serving N.N.C. and Community"

In thirteen brief years College Church has had some glorious days of spiritual service and well-rounded growth. A vine of God's own planting, here at the strategic spot of Northwest Nazareneism, she has borne fruit to the glory of God largely through the self-forgetful sacrifice of faculty, students and a host of parents and friends clustered about the Campus. N.N.C.'s new church home is the latest evidence of the vision of a local congregation for N.N.C.'s spiritual welfare and for world-wide evangelism.

Acknowledgment

To the students who gave hours unending in working in their respective places, and to the heads of staffs;

To the artists with their sketch boards and the mounters with their glue,
To the business assistants with their receipt books,
To the student photographers who aided so extensively,

To the assistant editor, Jim Galloway, for endless jobs done so willingly and well, without whose help this task could hardly have been completed, and to the literary editor, Gene Hovee, who has so efficiently organized the writing for the Oasis,

To our sponsors, Miss Washburn and Mr. Johnson, for words of encouragement and advice when things looked dark, and for reading and approving our work,

To our photographers, Mr. Glenn Gaerte and the Photo Shop, who patiently worked with us and produced such good returns.

To our advertisers and contributors for their loyal financial support by whose aid such an undertaking is possible,

To our printers and engravers, Caxton Printers of Caldwell and Western Engraving of Seattle,

Yes, and to those who will forgive our errors, shortcomings, and omissions,

To everyone of you we say sincerely, "Thanks. We appreciate you."
